

The image displays a 4x4 grid of 16 grayscale images, each showing a handwritten digit '4' on a grid background. The images are arranged in four rows and four columns. Each image shows a different stage of the digit's formation, with some parts already drawn and others being actively drawn or about to be drawn. The background is a light gray grid.

Source: <https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/fyky0003>